

Project TEACH

Transportation, Education, Access, Care & Housing

Project TEACH is a comprehensive initiative for cancer patients of Aroostook County to have access to the best care possible, regardless of their household income or geography. Aroostook County Action Program, with support from Maine Cancer Foundation, will provide direct client benefits to Aroostook County residents who are undergoing cancer treatments. This funding may be used for gas cards, other transportation expenses, food and lodging for a cancer patient receiving treatment in Aroostook County or in a facility outside the local area.

There are no income guidelines for this program and the goal is to ensure all cancer patients have the necessary tools to receive the care they need.

If you are facing challenges attending oncology appointments due to transportation or lodging costs, there is help available.
